Four Calgary Men Killed In Plane Crash At Sentinel

Civic Centre Meeting Scheduled For Friday Night At 8 o'clock Lethbridge Leaders To Speak

Temporary Committee Desires to See Packed Hall; Every Citizen Will Most Definitely be Affected.

Everything is in readiness for Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Community hall when one of the most important public meetings called in the community in a great number of years is scheduled to be held. The question "does Coleman want a Civic Centre?" will definitely be answered one way or the other.

The temporary committee has been working unceasingly for many weeks on gathering data with which to endeavor to answer all questions which may be asked by the general public. In order to give local citizens a clear insight as to the value of a civic centre in a town, its financing, its maintenance, etc., the committee is bringing to the meeting a number of Lethbridge's leading citizens who are taking a vital part in the planning and construction of the huge Civic Centre in that city. These men will include ex-Mayor Shackelford, Supt. Lamb of the CPR, George McKillop, physical training instructor for Lethbridge schools; Harold Long, of The Lethbridge Herald, and also the recently elected president of the Lethbridge Board of Trade, whose name The Journal was unable to secure. These men are fully conversant with a Civic Centre project and should have a wealth of material to impart to local citizens which can be used to advantage should Coleman decide to go ahead with the project.

In addition several of our own prominent citizens will be heard, among them being Mayor Aboosafy, J. J. McIntyre, S. C. Short, the ministry, etc. Board of Trade president Horace Allen will be Chairman.

This meeting in all likelihood will either give the green light or the red light to the project. If it should be the green light then it will affect the pocketbook of every wage earner in town. Every adult should make it a point to be present at the meeting which starts at 8 p.m. When so much preparation has been made for the meeting it is essential that a record turn-out be received.

Utility Board Heard Light & Water Debate In Calgary

Town of Coleman Asks for a Month in Which to Present Further Evidence.

On Thursday and Friday, Feb. 6 and 7, and again on Tuesday, Feb. 11, the Board of Public Utility Commissioners sat at Calgary to hear arguments from the Town of Coleman and officials of the Coleman Light & Water Co.

A great deal of evidence was produced by both sides and the Town has asked and been granted by Board Chairman G. A. Blackstock permission to submit any further evidence it may uncover within the next month. Following that deadline the Board will then hand down its decision as to what would be a fair purchasing price for the system to both parties.

Once the judgment has been given the council will go to the ratepayers and give them the opportunity of either approving or disapproving of the purchase of the light and water system.

An agreement exists at the present time between the company and the Town of Coleman.

Grands Advance To Third Round Prov. Play-Offs

Defeat Shaughnessy 11-1 And 8-4 In Two Game Series; Rough Game.

Exhibiting deadly accuracy on goal Grands brushed aside the challenge of Shaughnessy Cadillac Miners in a two game total goal series to win both games 11-1 at Lethbridge and 8-4 here Monday night to advance into the third round of provincial Intermediate Play-offs.

The ice was fast but rough, and players had difficulty in controlling the rubber. The game was rough, possibly the roughest of the season when ten penalties were handed out, two being misconducts.

Fraser started the locals away with a goal in the first three minutes. Branch of Shaughnessy got that one back four minutes later only to have Kwamie, Antonenko and Kryzka fire three more behind Bernest.

The second period had barely started before both Pow and Bennett had been beaten. Simy scored for the visitors in 15 seconds only to have Fraser retaliate forty seconds later. Fraser was in high gear and scored his third goal of the night eleven minutes later to put Grands farther out in front. Milroy scored for the visitors followed by Bill Mozell for Grands.

The two teams broke even in the third canto Antonenko getting his second goal of the game while continued on Page 8 attempting to land.

Thrown Clear

Two of the plane's occupants remained in the cabin and two were thrown clear. Snowdrifts and the steep river bank made rescue efforts difficult for men who had hurried to the scene after sighting the crash.

Arrangements to use the field, which is closer to Blairmore than the one at Cowley, were made Thursday night, and the plane took off from Calgary airport at about 9 a.m. Friday.

Stock on Field

Arriving at Coleman, it was forced to remain aloft until some livestock were cleared off the emergency field. It circled the field twice, and then dropped down to make a landing.

Dead Cow And Other Filth Litter Fleming Ranch; Council Expresses Fear Of Contamination Of River

Will Have Department of Health Send Inspector to Ranch; Stray Horses Remain Problem to Council.

Regular meeting of the council was held on Monday evening. Present Mayor Aboosafy, Councillors Cox, Dutil, Jenkins and Ramsay, Mrs. R. Vincent and Mr. Wm. Borrow. They were present to represent the L.O.O.F. hall committee. They sought exemption from the town business tax, stating that neither the pool rooms nor the bowling alleys were charged under the business tax. Following their departure the business tax by-law was re-examined and found to be satisfactory. A letter will be sent the hall committee that no change is to be made in the taxing system.

Mrs. C. Roggini was present to complain against a neighbor guilty of throwing dirty water in her yard and also on the main street. A letter is to be sent to the guilty party to be followed by a visit from the police constable.

Council learned that it has not the power to shoot stray horses despite their weakened condition. Council is at liberty to impound the animals, feed and water them and after a certain time claim them and sell them. Police have traced a number of owners and threatened them with prosecution. As a result some of the animals have been taken from the town area.

The M.H.O.'s report for January revealed that influenza had been prevalent in town. There had been additional case of V.D. discovered. He commented on the condition of the upstairs portion of Cameron Block. If conditions remain in the same manner he found upon his last inspection he was prepared to allow it to be habitable, however should conditions deteriorate to any extent he would have no alternative but to close it. He asked that Mrs. Root be notified to that effect.

Passenger Tired Of Waiting Drives Tram

PHILADELPHIA.—Motorman Milton Shaw pulled his trolley to a halt recently and dropped into a lunch-room for a snack.

Two persons boarded the trolley, then another. The latter fidgeted in his seat, suddenly jumped up, ran to the controls and started the car.

"Hey you can't do that," shouted Shaw as he dropped his food and gave chase.

Shaw pursued the trolley seven blocks. Then the man at the controls halted to pick up a passenger who turned out to be Patrolman Samuel Wyche.

The driver, who said he was George Quigley, 31, was arrested on charges of malicious mischief and operating a trolley without the owner's consent.

SHAW WAS OUTWITTED BY WOMEN'S SOCIETY

In New York the Women's Action Committee for Lasting Peace wrote to George Bernard Shaw in London, saying they were raising money by auctioning some autographed books, and would he please autograph some? Shaw replied that he would not. He thought the cause of the United Nations was "too big for your little Women's Action Committee." He scoffed at some length.

The women went ahead with the auction and sold one of the popular American autographed books for $70. They told Shaw's grouchy letter for $170.—New York Herald Tribune.

PROTECTION FROM WHOOPING COUGH

The Kitchener Record says a life insurance survey brought out the surprising fact that whooping cough kills more children every year than polio, measles and scarlet fever combined. That should be food for thought for parents who have more or less accepted whooping cough as a necessary evil for which little can be done. It is pointed out that many unnecessary deaths occur annually because parents do not take elementary precautions to prevent exposure of children to this dangerous affliction.

A little routine care can sometimes pay big dividends in such a situation.

Children should be given the protection of the whooping cough serum at an early age. Although the serum doesn't provide sure immunity, it virtually guarantees a mild case if the child happens to get the disease.

HAVING TIGHT TIME

According to the Vancouver Province cupid is having an increasingly difficult time in selling marriage to young couples and making them keep up their payments. Divorce courts are grinding out decrees at record speed while the high cost of living is postponing countless matrimonial ventures. In 1946 Vancouver set a record with 1,235 divorces and in B.C., the total of broken marriages increased nearly 70 per cent. over the previous year.

The mid-day meal is as important as a substantial breakfast, and helps make for best returns in work and enjoyment.

OUR COMPLETE
SHORT STORY—

COMMENCEMENT

By ELLEN FRANCIS

THIRTEEN of the seniors at Miss Folton's boarding school were excited and happy this graduation day. The fourteenth, Betsy Van Nood, was miserable. In a few minutes she would be revealed as anything but "the select young lady" Miss Folton's turned out. Just wait until Marly, Louise, and all her other friends saw her parents. Why did they have to come and ruin everything? After practically ignoring her for four years, why couldn't they have stayed on the West Coast?

"Daddy and I could not bear to miss our little girl's big day, so we are dropping our contract at the Club Chuch," mother had written in her big, sprawling hand, "and will arrive by bus, train, or carrier pigeon." Phone!

"The darling doxies," Aunt Jean sighed when Betsy read it over the telephone. "But what's a job, when you've given up everything?"

Betsy interpreted this in her own light. Her parents were irresponsible. She had thought so for quite awhile over since they shipped her east to Mrs. Trilling, Dad's older sister. "It's for your sake, darling," Dad said, "the hot spots where mom and I work, are no place for a twelve year old beauty. Remember, we'll miss you." Double phone! They were just ducking their duties.

The first heartbreak over Betsy learned to love Aunt Jean, her New York apartment, and finally Miss Folton's. It was such an exclusive school—scholarship high, too—that Betsy could never have held up her head without a touch of showmanship in her blood. At least that is how she felt. For the other girls, daughters of wealthy professional men, were so similar in appearance, speech, and background. The important thing, Betsy determined, was to be exactly like them. By adroit questioning and later, on vacation visits, she learned much about their families. Regarding her own she said little, and that little, highly imaginary. Her parents, she admitted if pressed, were engaged in social work on the coast. Which was one way of describing the rough and tumble comedy team of North and North. She was glad they used an assumed name for their act, and gladder that Aunt Jean, her sponsor, was white-haired and patrician. Surely, she would not have been accepted if Miss Folton knew her parents. They were so different in every way from the trim mothers, the tailored fathers, Betsy met. Mom, with her reddish hair that looked so beautiful in the spotlight, so out in the daylight. Dad with his startling jackets and booming voice. By eastern standards they were loud, exuberant—awful. If only something would prevent their arrival. Once exposed as different, how could she ever face her friends again? She could imagine the raised eyebrows, the tittered comments.

Slowly, she descended the winding stairs and even more slowly entered the reception room filled with beaming relatives of the graduates. She said hello to those she knew and would have missed her parents entirely if they were not for Aunt Jean. They were so neat and subdued that momentarily her heart filled with relief. It sank again when she reached them. Mother's flaming hair was too set in its immature sausage curls, her dress too severe. And father's morning suit was too stiff, even his gardenia looked sharp. Was it the cheapness of their clothes that made them seem like caricatures of the others?

"Darling," her mother cried and thrust her hand into Betsy's hair, "full arms about Betsy and press her to her soft high breasts, the richness of her voice gave that affect. "My dearest," her father said, "you're beautiful!" and his words burned around the room. Betsy winced. She kissed them almost coolly and then felt frantically on Aunt Jean. Here was someone worthy of display.

Mother's lips quivered as though she had not flung her hand, full arms about Betsy and pressed her to her soft high breasts, the richness of her voice gave that affect. ST. VICTOR AN OASIS ON PRAIRIES

ST. VICTOR, Sask.—This hamlet of about 80 residents, 10 miles from the nearest railroad or highway, is an oasis in the dry wheatlands of south central Saskatchewan.

Two dams, built with the assistance of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, provide a stream deep enough for swimming as well as water for orchards of plums, cherries and apples. Raspberries and strawberries also thrive here.

But the most incongruous feature of St. Victor is that almost half the population is made up of men and women in their twenties. They work for a funeral benefit insurance society which does all its business by mail.

The site is a green acre in the hot summer months with swimming and fishing close at hand back of the dams. It night club entertainment is preferred there is Glasgow, Montana, a few miles away across the border.

Leader of the tiny community is J. F. Lalonde, head of the insurance society, who came from Quebec in 1916.

His brother, Eugene, was the original postmaster and still holds the post.

The Lalonde home is something of a "Shangri-la" in this farming district. A tennis court and fish pond make it even more fantastic for a prairie home. There are maples, elms, poplars on the grounds.

Lalonde's 50-foot beach was formed when he put in a dam which utilizes waters of nearby springs.

More Health-Giving

Nutritional Value of Milk Retained Longer in Colored Bottles

Now it's painted milk bottles. Toronto's Banting laboratories suggest that if a red or green bottle were used instead of the traditional clear glass container, the milk would retain its nutritional value longer.

Experiments with rhodovian—better known as vitamin B2—led to the painted bottle idea. Nutritional and food investigations by R.C.A.F. doctors and the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children established the fact that the rhodovian essential to good health could best be obtained through milk and dairy products. Also established was the fact that milk exposed to sunlight loses its rhodovian fairly rapidly.

The Banting laboratories idea, then, was not prompted by any desire to bring milk bottles into line with the current trend toward more colorful surroundings. Rather it sprang from investigation into that milk in colored bottles would tend to be a more health-giving drink.

TIMELY ADVICE FOR THE WINTER SEASON

The Boston Post says the public may well be grateful to Medical Examiner William J. Brickley for advice which should be followed during the winter season. Persons suffering from heart and kidney ailments should under no condition attempt to shovel snow. This is laborious work and may well mean sudden death to those not in top condition. Don't carry heavy bundles and don't over-exert in any way. It is timely advice.

she make any introductions. She felt her friends staring at her, probably whispering about her, and she wished desperately the exercises were over. Chagrin replaced the happiness of her parents' faces. Serves them right, she thought bitterly, and turned with relief when the song sounded to the graduates to assemble.

It's difficult to restrain a voice which has been trained to make itself heard in the most remote corner, which accounts, no doubt, for what Betsy overheard half way down the room. "Betsy, old son, we've got a lady on in hands. We'll worth it?"

Betsy looked back. Mother was smiling up at dad, contentedly. "Was it worth it?" What old he meant? Aunt Jean had paid for all this—or had she? Mrs. Trilling had never been rich, where had she suddenly found the money? Betsy must have misinterpreted what Aunt Jean tried to tell her on the phone and at other times. For four years mother and dad had been working themselves out, then gives a night, not letting her know their salaries or loneliness, so that she could have a good education. They had relied on her to understand their love and the denials. Commencement! It was high time she started acting like a graduate instead of a dope.

Marly edged close to her and asked indignantly, "Why didn't you introduce me to your parents? They look like actors."

"They are in a way," Betsy replied proudly, "and you'll meet them right after this."

"How exciting! Gosh, you're lucky," Betsy smiled at this unexpected reaction. Yet Marly was right, she was lucky. What was the point in having parents as nice as everyone else's? Being different was the main part of growing up. Mounting the platform, she searched the audience for her family and then smiled broadly into their eyes.

Taxi Driving In London Is Difficult

Geography Of Streets Is Hard For Newcomers To Learn

The British Legion is exerting itself to equip ex-soldiers for taxi-driving. London stands in need of at least another thousand taxis which means addition of double that number of drivers. The trouble is to teach new drivers the geography of the streets. The Home Office test is a very searching one involving close study extending over several months. The new drivers who are coming back to the work after six years with the forces confess to being very rusty. On one occasion, a journalist was taken a considerable distance out of his way. He remonstrated at the end of the journey. No one could have been more apologetic than the driver. He admitted he had gone all wrong and voluntarily suggested a substantial reduction in the fare. "Give me a box sir, and I'll be quite satisfied," he said. When his fare landed the car had been all through the Burma campaign he gave him more than the taximeter recorded.

Last year "Salada" announced that the sale of their packaged Tea in 1945 was at an all time high of four million pounds over their previous peak.

Today they again announced another increase in 1946 of 2,500,000 pounds over 1945.

This is an enormous sales increase and it is all based on two ideas—uniform quality and careful packaging so that "Salada" reaches the user in prime condition.

FATHER GIVES LIFE TO SAVE SON FROM DROWNING

NEW YORK. — Police said that Edward Henning, 45, sacrificed his life to save that of his 14-year-old son after their frail kayak overturned in Little Neck Bay.

"Hang on to the boat, son, and keep kicking!" were the last words that Edward Henning, Jr., heard his father say after choppy waves had overturned the single cockpit kayak.

Police said that Henning, a 200-pound man wearing a heavy sheepskin coat, then let go of the kayak and was drowned, knowing that the craft could not support both weights.

Young Henning was rescued.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Air Tragedies

Day after day, month after month, reports of plane accidents the world over scream from the front pages of the daily newspapers. The mounting toll of violent deaths suffered in these accidents is reacting on the leading air companies, particularly in the United States where passenger traffic is dropping sharply. Possibly the reason these accidents are given such a big play is because of the prominent people involved. Air travel is not so cheap that everyone finds himself financially able to travel by this means and thus it is that big business executives, people prominent in public life and the socially prominent are the ones more often involved in these disasters.

What causes these accidents? Is it atmospheric conditions, poor plane construction, pilots too hurriedly trained, overloading or is it due to the fact that air travel is increasing to the extent that the air accidents are happening more frequently and are being more sharply focused to public scrutiny?

Possibly a curb could be placed on the number of accidents by an increased staff of government inspectors who answer to no one but the government and because of this can do a proper job examining all aircraft and grounding all planes which they do not deem airworthy.

Through all these disasters Trans Canada Airlines has come through without a blemish, possible due to well trained pilots who take no chances with the safety of their passengers and mechanics who test their planes with minute detail. TCA is to be congratulated on its record.

Civic Centre

The important meeting of the Civic Centre is to be held to-morrow night. Are you going to be present?

Recreational facilities for Coleman's youth in the years to come will in all likelihood be determined. Coleman during the past few years has become more and more progressive. She is now faced with one of the most important decisions of her history, whether or not to invest in her youth and construct a Civic Centre. Providing all wage earners share in the cost equally it will not take too much money from each, the amount will very likely be determined at this meeting.

Competent men, experienced in the construction and administration of Civic Centres are being brought from Lethbridge to give addresses. Their advice will be beneficial to Coleman citizens. Take time out to-morrow night at 8 to attend this important meeting.

Invest in Coleman's future.

Require Concerted Effort

If the motorists and business men in the Crows Nest Pass want a modern highway from the Pincher station to the B.C. - Alberta border this year they will have to take concerted action in bringing before the Hon. W.A. Fallow the urgency in getting this road brought up to modern standards.

Coleman Board of Trade has been fighting the motorists' battle for months but needs support from motorists and business men if its fight is to be a successful one. Mr. Fallow's reply to the letter sent by the board has been non-committal.

Spring will be with us in a few weeks. Cars will be moving more freely. If the roads are paved the motorist saves on his operating expenses and temper. If the roads are paved then the trickle of tourists will turn into a flood as one tells the other of road conditions. Tourist traffic is beneficial to the merchant and the province as a whole. Last year the heavy influx of tourists which came through here in the spring dwindled until it was practically non-existent in August due simply to the poor roads.

All Pass towns should take up the fight and by concerted effort turn Mr. Fallow's eyes to the Pincher - Crows Nest No. 3 highway and its urgent need for improvement. The best time is to start now before the year's estimates are passed.

Freedom to Broadcast

The recent action of the Minister of Public Works in summarily denying further use of CKUA broadcasting station in Edmonton to the Alberta Educational Council can be considered neither warranted nor wise. This Council represents some 25 rural and urban organizations which are supported by many thousands of citizens deeply concerned with declining efficiency of Alberta schools. They have no political purposes except as all public efforts may ultimately come in conflict with people or organizations who wish things to remain as they are. Chief objective of this new provincial organization is to secure provincial aid for elementary and secondary education to 50% of its cost, in order that an adequate supply of able well-trained teachers may be obtained and held in the profession. Education, as it is purveyed in many sections of the province through the Correspondence Branch of the Department of Education and through the 700 supervisors in schools, cannot but be regarded as a makeshift, a second rate affair, a necessary evil. The Minister of Public Works, in closing off the use of CKUA to the Alberta Educational Council because someone was offended by their broadcasts, shows some unawareness of the desire of a large proportion of Alberta citizens that these forms of instruction be abolished and that adequate money be provided to maintain first class rural and urban schools in this province.

Dead Cow

dead cow lying close by the river and which was in the process of being pulled away when he arrived on the scene. Part of the carcass had been eaten away. Manure piles and other filth were being carried into the river by chawing ice and snow. The condition of the cattle was pathetic, their bones almost sticking out of their hides. He advocated that drastic steps be taken to clean up the mess. Council will ask the Dept. of Health to send down an inspector to see the filth for himself.

The Slurry and sawdust which has been creating a nuisance in West Coleman has been caused by recent high winds according to company officials. It is not expected that the condition will continue.

A by-law prohibiting U-turns being made on main street adjoining Central Avenue was given third reading.

A separate bank account was authorized for the ash account.

Councillor Ramsay brought up the subject of better drainage for the flat. Works & Property is to make an inspection.

Mr. John Kinnear sr. asked that town try to improve the drainage system alongside the western portion of his lot on Third street. Water from the Dickson hill and Flumnerfelt Park flow through his fence into his yard and through the front fence.

Wing Dipped

A breeze was blowing, and the plane came from the east into the wind. Visibility was good, and the weather warm. The driver of a Mannix company truck awaiting the plane, and Harry Boulton, Coleman, who was on a nearby road, witnessed the accident.

Boulton, a forest ranger, who figured prominently in the search for an R.C.A.F. Dakota which crashed near Coleman in January, 1946, later described the crash.

Like Cardboard
"I watched the plane circling. It was flying very low as it came around the field," he said. "I had a premonition it was going to crash, then all of a sudden the wing touched a tree. When it went down I rushed over to see if I could help with any rescue work."

Another man who arrived shortly after the crash described the aircraft as being "smashed like so much cardboard. The bank is steep and the snowdrifts heavy and it was difficult to get to the plane. The two men who were thrown clear had to be lifted up by Mr. Boulton and the truck driver."

The removal of the two bodies from the cabin was complicated by the smashed condition of the plane and the drifted snow.

The plane was a Mark V Anson, purchased from War Assets Corporation last fall. It was recovered at a cost of approximately $10,000 for civilian use, and had been in regular use by the company.

Dryden, Kramer and Spohn had been with the company for about 12 years, while Mr. Moseeson joined the company about five years ago.

Mr. Moseeson, formerly with the Calgary Power Company, is survived by his wife and one child. His home, just across the west end of the Shoulit bridge, midway between the city and Bowness, was known as the White House. A brother lives at Wetaskiwin.

Mr. Bryden leaves his wife and two children, while Kramer, the pilot, who was married here last October, is survived by his wife.

Spohn's father lives at Strome, and his sister is also believed to be living in the province. He was unmarried.

Local airport acquaintances of Kramer were stunned by news of his death. They said he was "an extremely good pilot" and had put in a considerable number of hours with the Anson, flying it north as far as the Dawson Creek country.

He had been with the company for several years, and had been the company pilot for more than a year. He took private flying lessons before the war, and at the outbreak of hostilities joined the staff of No. 5 E.F.T.S. when it was located at Lethbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Salus Celebrated 25th Wedding Anniversary

Friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen William Panek at Carbondale on Sunday, Feb. 16, to celebrate the occasion of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Salus' 25th wedding anniversary. The honored couple were greeted with surprise as they entered the home of their daughter to find it filled with friends who showered on them best wishes on the occasion and happiness in the years to come.

Carolee Panek and Tommy Salus, grandchildren, presented them with a corsage and a beautiful bouquet of carnations and daffodils. Twenty five guests sat down to a sumptuous supper on tables which were beautifully decorated. Serving were Mrs. Panek, Miss Ann Salus and Mrs. John Salus. The honored couple's table was centred with a three tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom ornament.

Following supper Mr. John Panek, of Hillcrest, in a brief address wished Mr. and Mrs. Salus health and happiness in the years ahead. John Salus, their son, on behalf of family and friends expressed his pleasure at his parents having attained their 25th wedding anniversary and presented them with a number of gifts. These gifts included a white baby chennille bedspread, end table from their friends, and from the family a handsome china cabinet. Mr. and Mrs. Salus thanked everyone for the kindness and thoughtfulness shown them on the occasion of their wedding anniversary.

A delightful social evening then followed with sing songs and dancing. The party concluded about midnight with the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Mr. and Mrs. Salus have resided in Coleman for the past twenty five years, Mr. Salus being employed at International. They have five children: Mrs. S. W. Panek, John, Miss Ann, Joe and Andrew, and four grandchildren.

Invasion

If you had recently come from many years of sojourn in a land once noted for its savagery and fierceness, and where by far the black faces outnumbered the whites, and where "medicine men," "witch doctors" and kindred superstitions still flourished and the black arts were still practised, you would, without any question of doubt, if you heard many muffled voices and the tramp of many feet within your front porch after sundown, grasp the nearest suitable weapon (be it rolling-pin, sjambok or merely a heavy inkwell from your desk), and prepare to sell your life as dearly as possible.

Small wonder, then, that the newly appointed Anglican church rector, himself and family fresh from the African veld and with vivid recollections of Zulu, Basuto, and Swazi war-dances, grimly intense and evilly fascinating, should at least feel a pang of apprehension (if only instinctive) when the evening-quiet of his "den" began to echo with the excited murmur of many, many voices, and his front porch shook with the tread of many many feet.

However, when he responded to the prolonged tattoos played upon his front door by many many hands, and boldly opened up to stand framed in the doorway with the background of a hundred watt lamp from his lounge, it was not a viciously hurled and deadly sharp assegai which met and checked his daring. Nor was it some angry tribal-chief's headman who, with many impl, (or warriors) in support began immediately to harangue Unfundisi (teacher) with some imagined wrong. On the contrary it was a band of eighteen ladies, members of the Anglican Women's Guild, staggering beneath packages, boxes and chairs, who, raising their war cry of "surprise!" surged into the rectory bearing gifts and eatables and good company and warm welcome, which they duly showered upon the Rector's wife and himself over a period of two and a half hours . . . all of which seem to pass in fifteen minutes, so lively and happy and enjoyable were the proceedings of the occasion.

As a Western Canadian way of bidding welcome to newcomers from far off lands there is, (the Anglican Rector is now well in a position to report!) no other way of making freshmen feel at home. It needs just that, and that alone, to cement the hospitable "Rocky Mountain manners" with which this Pass seems to shine, and Mrs. Mann and the Rector with all Coleman to know of their gratitude and pleasure at this demonstration of friendliness and generosity so displayed by the Ladies of the St. Alban's Anglican Church Women's Guild.

(Note by author: It might be well worth while to go right away and come back again, pretending not to have been here before, just to have it all happen once more! Any chances?)

EXCITING ROMANCE

The exciting story of a boy from Times Square who brought to a girl from Grosvenor Square a love she never dreamed of is the theme of "A Yank In London," the new 20th Century-Fox release presented by the Associated British Picture Corporation, Ltd.

The film, which opens Saturday at the Bellevue Theatre, stars Anna Neagle, Rex Harrison, Dean Jagger and Robert Morley.

Unfolding a story that might be that of any Yank who ever met, wooed and won a girl. "A Yank In London" is said to be packed with romantic excitement and drama throughout. Avoiding the usual boy-meets-girl pattern, the film resolves the conflict of Yank and English backgrounds in an unusual and suspenseful manner, its fast-moving action leading to a thrilling surprise climax.

PARAMOUNT COMEDY

"CROSS MY HEART"

ARRIVING HERE SATURDAY

Two of Hollywood's favorite stars are teamed in Paramount's new comedy, "Cross My Heart," which arrives next Saturday at the Palace Theatre. They are Betty Hutton and Sonny Tufts, and report has it that their talent for making people laugh has never been displayed to better advantage.

"Cross My Heart" tells the uproarious story of a girl who can't help lying when she gets into any sort of trouble and, somehow, she's always getting into trouble. Betty plays the girl, in love with a struggling lawyer, portrayed by Tufts, whose excessive honesty interferes with his career.

Good Roads

MEAN MILLIONS

To Alberta

The tourist trade is estimated to have brought nine and a half million dollars to Alberta in 1946, about one and a half times the Provincial expenditure on roads ($6,605,950 est.) for the year.

This tourist income can be multiplied as soon as we provide the kind of all-weather highway system that makes tourist travel easy and pleasant. And we need such roads for our own use and in the interests of our own progress.

The Alberta Government is to be commended on its recently announced outline of a $9,500,000 highway program for 1947. If this program is carried out and repeated over a period of years, we will have roads worthy of Alberta and worth a great deal more than their cost to us.

"Accidental Death With No Blame Attached To Anyone" Is Verdict of Coroner's Jury Enquiring Into Death of Flyers

Snow Drifted Fences Had Permitted Cattle to Walk Unmolested On To Field; All Men Died As Result of Skull Fractures.

A jury, under coroner Fred Antroub, enquiring into Friday's plane crash brought in a verdict of accidental death with no blame attached to anyone. They added a rider that the field be inspected daily instead of present practice of weekly inspections and that these daily reports be submitted to the proper office.

The inquest was held Saturday morning when the bodies were viewed and identified. They were then released for burial and the inquest adjourned until Monday morning when examination of witnesses was made. Personnel of the jury included Donald McRae, foreman, J. Anderson, H. Jones, D. Moors, F. Coccione and G. Ruoston.

The first witness called was James Welsh, a foreman of the Mannix Construction Co. He stated he had been at the air field at 10 a.m. to meet the plane. It came over, cattle were on the field and the flyers appeared to try to scare them off. The plane was above the trees as it came in for the third time when its right wing dipped suddenly and he heard a crash. He, along with Harry Boulton, Forest Ranger, hurried to the crash, picked up the two bodies of Spohn and Moesson and placed them on the river bank. The doctor had been sent for. He left the scene of the crash and went to the highway where he met the RCMP whom he guided to the scene. He estimated 6 to 8 cattle were on the field. Spohn was still breathing when moved to the bank but Moesson was dead. He stated the plane was the right height to make a landing and that only a breeze was blowing at the time. The plane was constantly in his sight. He believed the cattle at the south side of the field would have caused no trouble but those on the east side would have.

Harry Harris, ambulance driver of Coleman Miners' Hospital, told of his trip in the ambulance from the hospital to the scene of the accident. He had found Spohn still alive and had caused him to be placed on a stretcher, carried to the ambulance and taken to the hospital.

Dr. E. J. Liesemer told of admitting the injured Spohn to the hospital at about 11 a.m. in a dying condition and that practically nothing could have been done for him. He suffered from a fractured skull as well as other injuries. He was in the hospital three hours before he passed away. The doctor attributed death to a fractured skull.

Dr. Hope Gill had gone to the scene of the accident and had found three of the four men there, Spohn having already been taken to hospital. He found two men in the plane, examined them and found no signs of life. He then examined Moesson on the river bank and also found him dead. Later examination revealed that all three men had died due to fractured skulls.

Patrick Kilkenny, legal dept. of the Mannix Co. submitted a copy of the Dept. of Transport's certificate of airworthiness of the plane. Pilot Kramer's license was also submitted as evidence. Witness also gave the official position of the four deceased men in the Mannix Co. He also stated that an enquiry would be made into the crash by the Civil Aeronautical Assoc.

Constable Wm. Shields, RCMP, told of being notified of the accident at 10:30 a.m. Friday. He proceeded to the crash, meeting J. Welsh and Dr. Hope Gill enroute. He told of the plane's position on the river bank and observing two bodies in the plane. His first attempts to remove them had met with failure. A truck equipped with a winch had been secured and the plane housing the two bodies was pulled up to where it could be worked upon more easily and the two bodies released. Kramer still had the joy stick between his feet and legs. Took the bodies to Blairmore where upon examination of the bodies Kramer's shattered watch had stopped at 8:45 minutes past 10 a.m.

Harry Boulton told of traveling back to Coleman. He saw the plane circling and also saw the plane only a short height above a passing freight train. He had driven down to the Mannix truck which was waiting on the plane landing and asked what the plane was doing. He had been told cattle were on the field and the pilot was trying to clear the field. He then noticed 7 or 8 cattle on the strip. The plane circled and came in over Fleming's ranch from the east and it appeared to be maneuvering nicely. All at once the right wing tipped sharply to a 45 degree angle and went towards the earth very fast. Realizing that it might be a serious accident he sent one man back to Coleman to seek help while the others piled on to his truck and they made for the crashed plane. Mr. Welsh failed to see anyone upon first examining the wreck. Boulton and Welsh then waded the river looking alongside the ice banks. Boulton then dug into the snow alongside the plane and uncovered a foot. Further search got a second man out of the snow. One of the men, Spohn, was still breathing and the two men were laid on the river bank on the opposite side from the crash. They then examined the plane and found two men with their heads under water. He considered the plane was being well and skillfully handled up to the time of the crash. Speaking on the fences Mr. Boulton stated some portions of them had been drifted in so that cattle could have walked on to the field with no difficulty.

Guy Fleming, rancher, told of seeing the plane but had paid little attention to it. On its third circle he had seen one wing tip sharply and then heard a crash. He had 20 head of cattle, most of which were in the barn. The few cattle on the air strip could have possibly been his.

Herbert McGillivray, dairy farmer, had seen the plane from the moment it entered the area up until it crashed. On the first two sweeps over the field landing gear had not been down. It was down however on the third and fatal sweep. The plane seemed under control until the right wing suddenly tipped and then it had plunged to earth. A strong breeze from the west had been blowing. He had reached the crash shortly after Boulton and Welsh and had helped Harris place Spohn on the stretcher.

Wm. Liddell, Asst. Forest Ranger and formerly a Flight Engineer in the RCAF told of watching the plane fly over work being done by Mannix Construction on West Canadian property north west of Blairmore, of seeing it head for the Coleman airport and later flying over the town of Coleman before starting out a second time for the airport. The plane was performing well when he last watched it.

David Bouthillier, truck driver, resides half a mile from the airport and is its official caretaker. He heard the plane but paid no particular attention to it as he was working in a barn. He came out once and noticed the plane. Later he heard the plane's motors open up very suddenly and then silence. He walked to the highway to see if the plane landed. Seeing no plane he went down to the airport, saw some people and asked what had happened. Since there was plenty help he went to the field and took the cattle off the strip. He stated that the cattle belonged to Mr. Fleming.

He submitted a weekly inspection report to the Dept. of Transport on the field's condition. His last report had revealed snow ranging from one inch to 16 inches in depth. He had inspected the field on the day of the accident and found pools of water in all its depressions and very soft, particularly so in some places. Snow had drifted in three places making it easy for cattle to walk unmolested on to the field.

Following the submission of all evidence the jury lost little time in bringing in their verdict.

Telephone Subscribers To Be Given Opportunity of Accepting Or Rejecting New Telephone System

Within the next few days a circular letter is being sent out to all telephone subscribers in the Pass district setting forth a new telephone set-up and asking each subscriber to record his approval or disapproval of the newly proposed set-up.

Here is the letter:
The Department has under consideration the installation of automatic telephone exchanges at Blairmore including Frank, Bellevue including Hillcrest, and at Coleman. Burmis, Maple Leaf and Passburg would be served by automatic party line connected to the Bellevue exchange.

We would like to emphasize that this is a fairly long range program and it is estimated it will take two to three years to obtain the necessary equipment and establish the service once it is decided to proceed.

The principal automatic unit would be at Blairmore at which point long distance toll facilities and necessary operating staff will be located. Unattended, but entirely self-contained, satellite automatic exchanges would be established at Coleman and Bellevue. With very few exceptions every subscriber will have individual private line service and, if located within three-quarters of a mile of the exchange to which they are connected, will pay the following monthly rental rates:

	Business	Residence
Blairmore	4.50	4.75
Coleman	4.25	4.50
Bellevue	4.25	4.50

Party Line (Business or Residence) Wall Hand Set 2.75.
Note: (a) Extension sets or other subsidiary equipment extra.
(b) If a subscriber is located outside the three-quarter mile limit mentioned above there is an extra monthly charge of 50c for each additional quarter mile or fraction thereof.

With this improved and modern telephone service the Department proposes to establish a tariff for inter-office calls (Station to Station only) as follows:

- (1) Blairmore to Coleman or vice versa—5 cents for five minutes, plus 5 cents for each additional five minutes.
- (2) Blairmore to Bellevue or vice versa—same as (1).
- (3) Coleman to Bellevue or vice versa—10 cents for five minutes, plus 10 cents for each additional five minutes.

Before proceeding further the department is vitally interested in the reaction of our patrons to the proposed rates and particularly the inter-office tariff. It can be stated without question that the latter must form an essential part of the whole program, consequently, we invite you to complete the lower part of this page, detach, and mail as directed.

It is hardly necessary to state that the final decision as to whether or not we will proceed with the project will be influenced by the replies received.

In the event of automatic telephone service being established as outlined above, do you agree to the proposed tariff? Yes... or No...
Telephone No. Signature
Please complete and return by next mail to:

Mr. T. C. Bradshaw
District Commercial Superintendent
Alberta Government
Telephones
LETHBRIDGE, Alberta.

As has been stated on several occasions the telephone cable between Coleman and Blairmore is practically finished. The same applies in lesser degree to the cables leading out of Blairmore to Bellevue, Hillcrest. This new system will eliminate the old cable and it will be replaced with a new and less costly set of about six wires. Each phone in town will be a private one and the old party line system will be obsolete with the exception of those phones some distance from the exchange as mentioned in the circular letter.

The phones themselves will be small and compact with the cradle speaker and receiver. It will also possess the dial system.

Since a change must come due to the condition of the present cable it will be up to the subscribers to state whether they wish this system presented to them or not.

X-L Rink Proves Surprise Package In Crow Bonspiel; Tied For Grand Aggregate Honors

Play Hoggan In Final Of Grand Challenge; Boulton Won International Trophy; Spiel Still Incomplete.

Crows Nest Pass Bonspiel is still incomplete as two trophies have still to be won and the 11 all tie Grand Aggregate honors between X-L, of Coleman and Vansacker, of Fernie, has to be broken. Each of these rinks has still one game to play and should they defeat their opponents a play-off between them will be necessary.

Ed. Leduc, who had been Coleman's big gun in the opening rounds of the draw managed to get into the finals of two events before the rink collapsed.

The ice at Blairmore on Wednesday became exceedingly rough due to melting snow on the roof dripping onto the ice and causing bumps like hens eggs. Teams unfortunate enough to be drawn on those sheets had to slug it out and the luckiest team won. Skill never entered into the game at any time on the rough sheets.

On Thursday the Holstad rink tangled with Stewart of Fernie and the ice was so heavy that the rinks tossed to see which rink would enter the next round. Stewart won the toss to enter the finals of the Trites-Wood where his club mate Vansacker awaited him, the latter having beat X-L in the semi's.

Harry Boulton was probably the happiest man at the Spiel. Harry skipped his rink into the finals of the International. He was down

9-3 at one stage of the game but his team rallied to nose out Carmichael, of Blairmore.

Bill Hoggan plugged along very quietly and without any ballyhoo wound his way into the final of the Grand challenge where he meets X-L.

Following are the results from the four:

LETHBRIDGE BREWERY:

Dancey beat Leduc; J. O. Stewart beat Meyers; Dancey beat Stewart (final).

BLAIRMORE MERCHANTS:

Carmichael beat Duncan; J. O. Stewart beat Maffioli; Carmichael beat Stewart (final).

GRAND, COS, INN:

Meyers beat Cook; W. Kerr beat Vansacker; Meyers beat W. Kerr (final).

INTERNATIONAL:

Carmichael beat Vansacker; Boulton beat BESL; Boulton beat Carmichael (final).

TRITES-WOOD:

K. Stewart beat Hestad; Vansacker beat X-L; Final later.

GRAND CHALLENGE:

X-L beat Leduc; Hoggan beat Maffioli; final later.

GRAND AGGREGATE:

Tie between X-L, of Coleman, and Vansacker, of Fernie, with 11 wing each. Each has still one game to play. Possible play-off.

Fallow Non-Committal On Improvements To No. 3 Highway In Spring

Board of Trade to Seek Better Mail Delivery Service by Utilizing Local Trains; to Petition Postmaster General at Ottawa.

The Coleman Board of Trade had a full slate of business in front of it on Tuesday night. Chairman H. Allen presided.

The highways committee read a brief letter received from Public Works Minister W. A. Fallow regarding No. 3 highway from Pincher Station to the Alberta-B.C. border. Mr. Fallow's letter was quite brief and contained no reference to the questions asked by the local committee in two previous letters sent him. Mr. Fallow stated that no plans could be disclosed at the present time until the highways estimates were approved by the legislature on or about March 15. It was decided to send a wire to Mr. Fallow urging upon him the utmost importance that this road be considered in this year's highway work. A copy was to be sent to E. O. Duke, MLA, so that he could bend every effort towards hard-surfacing this important stretch of highway.

The mail service committee made its report. It had interviewed the local postmaster on the subject of having mail carried on the east bound local arriving in Coleman at 2:30 p.m. daily. Mail delivery service is most unsatisfactory at the present time due to the fact that letters are delayed up to 24 hours. Air mail service is decreasing since the severe winter has disrupted train schedules to a great degree and air letters are missing the early morning trains out of Lethbridge.

The committee recommended that a petition be sent the Postmaster General, Ottawa, submitting facts and seeking his support in placing mail aboard the local leaving Yahk, B.C. daily which passes through the Crows Nest Pass towns. In this manner mail service would be speeded up and improved.

The committee also recommended that all towns served by this local train be asked to support the Coleman Board of Trade's action and also submit petitions, similar to Coleman's, to the Postmaster General.

The proposed new telephone system was briefly discussed. Mr. Abousafy stated that the town council had taken the matter up with provincial authorities a few years ago and that it had been made clear to the council that due to the deterioration of the cable between Coleman and Blairmore a change in the system was an absolute necessity. He stated that the change would have to come some time and that the telephone subscribers should be given the final say as to whether they favored the change, with its tolls, or not.

Following other routine business Constable Wm. Shields showed two films from the newly organized film library which were very well received.

SERVING CANADIANS THROUGH CHEMISTRY

"Chemistry?"

..SURE. I STARTED IT THIS YEAR!"

Yes, son, you're now meeting up with formulae and test tubes, but chemistry has been with you all your life. In one form or another it has guarded your health, helped to feed and clothe you and provided many of the things that have made your young career so zestful.

Now you are learning how this great service works. Your first simple experiments are the roots from which sprang such basic products as chlorine to purify water, fertilizers to stimulate food growth, insecticides to kill pests and guard crops, and paint to protect and beautify. You know about nylon hosiery, for example. The same plastic is made as a monofilament, so strong that it is used for fishing line leaders and tennis racket strings.

Chemistry never stands still. It is constantly searching for and finding new and better products. For this is a chemical world and the C-I-L Oval is the symbol of an organization devoted to serving Canadians through chemistry.

TRAVEL BUREAU SPONSORS

"POPULAR DISH" CONTEST

Alberta women are being urged by

HON. A. J. HOOKE
Prov. Minister of Economics

the Alberta Government Travel Bureau to concoct a dish which will be distinctively Albertan and which will send tourists who visit this province back to their own home towns raving about the good food they got while on holidays in this fair province.

"Bison has its baked beans, Mexico its chili con carne and even Winnipeg has Winnipeg goldeyes so we, here in Alberta where world-champion food products are produced, should have a dish for which we can become as famous internationally," said Dan. E. C. Campbell, director of the Travel Bureau.

"Tourists like our beef steaks and I can't think of a better meat dish to give them, but they can get good steaks in other places so we want ours to be much better than others and served with a distinctive sauce or cooked in some special way which will make it famous for deliciousness all over the world," Mr. Campbell added.

Conditions of the contest and entry blanks for it may be obtained from Treasury branches or by writing direct to the Alberta Government Travel Bureau Legislative Building Edmonton.

WEDDINGS

ROOT—ASHMORE

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at Central United Church, Calgary, on Jan. 18, at 4 p.m. when Betty Fern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Ashmore of Hillcrest, formerly of Champion, became the bride of Jack Root, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Root, of Coleman. Rev. Andrew Lawson officiated.

The bride chose for her wedding a "precious" blue dressmaker suit with nailhead trim, a white sheer blouse and small black hat with misty veil and black accessories. A corsage of American Beauty roses completed her costume.

Mrs. Walter Rhodes, of Champion, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a fawn tailored suit with small green hat and green accessories and her corsage was of pale pink carnations. Mr. E. Machervi of Calgary, was groomsmen.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Mandarin Gardens. The table decorations were tall white lighted tapers and pink carnations in silver holders. Mr. Otto Jensen of Calgary proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. For travelling to points in the mountains, where the honeymoon was spent prior to taking up residence in Coleman, the bride donned a fox trimmed blue coat over her wedding suit.

Prior to her marriage Miss Ashmore was on the staff of the Treasury Branch at Vulcan. Out-of-town guests were from Champion, Nanton and Coleman.

A Challenge To Agriculture

FOR SOME YEARS NOW Canadian farmers have worked to supply a market which has taken all and more than they could produce. Granaries and elevators have been emptied, and supplies of meat and dairy products have often come far short of the demand for them. All this was a great change from the years when large quantities of wheat were held over from season to season, and farmers were on some occasions induced to cut down acreage in order to avoid serious over-production. No one wishes these conditions to return, but there are many who wonder what will happen to the market for Canadian farm products when normal crops are again harvested throughout the world.

Answer Given Many Times

The answer to this question has been given many times by agricultural experts and nutritionists both here and abroad. Even in what we consider to be normal times, these experts tell us that a great part of the world's population exists on a diet which is far below the minimum requirements for good health. If people everywhere were adequately fed, standards of health would be higher and this might go far to help in the solution of many of the problems of the present day, for there is no doubt but that lack of food is an important cause of political unrest.

Real Need For Wider Markets

Higher nutrition standards throughout the world would mean a steady demand for Canadian farm products and it has frequently been pointed out that Canadians have a real interest in developing wider markets abroad for the food which is grown here. It is not a simple matter to cultivate new and wider markets, for we cannot export unless we are also prepared to buy from other lands, which brings up the far-reaching question of increasing buying power in our own country. Dean Grant MacEwan of the University of Manitoba, speaking on this subject before a gathering in Winnipeg recently said that if we can stimulate world-wide interest in nutrition there cannot be any surplus of farm products. "The fact is," he declared, "there are not enough acres in the world to feed all the people properly." He added "The potential markets are there. The challenge to us is to transform them from potential to real markets. And it is going to take a lot of educating to do it." This is a question to which we should be giving much thought and attention at this time.

Here's A Way To Get A House

ADELAIDE, Australia. A man in Adelaide advertised for a house—and got one. His advertisement read:

"I am a beaut, I only work when I have to, and I don't like gardening. If you must know I beat my wife. I have a youngster, too, who will draw nice pictures on your walls, the little pet."

"I put up with them because I love them. I'll go on living with them."

"The question is where? Your guess is as good as mine, but I'm not particular, as long as we are on our own."

"I'm tired of beating up the ladies, so if you think your house can stand it, please ring F3294."

Next morning a man rang the number given and said: "Who are you, anyway?"

Given the information, the caller rang off with: "I was curious to know if you were fair dinkum. I think you must be nuts."

Five minutes later another man rang and offered a caravan at the same price. The offer was declined.

Soon after a third rang and said: "I like your sense of humor Joe. I haven't got a house to offer, but I like your style and I'll do my best to find you one."

The fourth caller offered a new five-roomed house for a man with imagination."

People Must Use Intelligence

Science now promises to take the toll out of weed eradication. It has come up with a spray that will kill the noxious growths but will not harm vegetables. It sounds like Utopia for gardeners.

It is well to note, however, that the announcement is made with some reservations. The new spray must be used carefully according to directions. Like many of the remedies developed for human ills, careless handling can lead to disaster. All the great discoveries of science will not bring us to an age in which we are relieved of the responsibility for using our God-given intelligence. Thought will always be necessary, and for that we should be thankful. Windsor Star.

CANADA'S COAL RESERVE ENOUGH FOR 27 CENTURIES

OTTAWA.—The royal commission on coal sharply reduced estimates of Canada's coal reserves, but soothed the dismayed with the announcement that there should be enough for everybody for the next 27 centuries. The report said Canada possesses about 59,000,000,000 tons of mineable coal or about 49,000,000,000 tons which is recoverable.

The estimate, compiled by Dr. B. B. MacKay of the federal mines department, was based on current level of production.

His total worked out at less than 10 per cent. of the only previous national estimate, one of 1,360,535,000,000 tons made in 1913 which could not be considered an accurate estimate from the standpoint of practical mining.

FUNNY And

OTHERWISE

When the prisoner in the dock was asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed on him, he replied:

"I'm sorry I took the money, my lord; but you know the old saying that the more a man has the more he wants."

The judge nodded understandingly.

"Well," he said, "you are getting twelve months. How much more do you want?"

"Mabel says she's wildly in love with her new car."

"Just another case of a man being displaced by machinery."

The rejected suitor was making his final plea.

"What," he asked, "has this fellow got that I haven't?"

And the girl answered "Me."

For two long hours the members of the town council had been discussing a new means of communication with a neighboring village. Every time a suggestion was made one member or another would find some fault with it.

At last the chairman arose.

"Gentlemen," he said, "this quibbling is getting us nowhere. Now I suggest that we put our heads together and build a concrete road."

A stranded English actor went into a social eating house in New York for a cheap meal. He was horrified to recognize his waiter as a colleague who had played with him in London.

"Great Scott!" he gasped. "You—a waiter—in this place?"

"Yes," replied the other in dignified scorn, "but I don't eat here."

Called before the orderly officer, the private was being "put through it."

"What's that you say?" snapped the officer sternly. "You break a bottle of beer over the corporal's head and then have the audacity to stand there and say it was an accident?"

"Yes, sir, that's right, sir," replied the private; "I didn't mean to break it."

AMERICAN WOLVES COMING INTO CANADA

TORONTO.—American wolves are migrating to Canada in such large numbers that the Ontario government is studying various wolf-control plans to protect sheep in the border district.

Dr. W. J. K. Harkness of the Ontario department of lands and forests, said the wolves are entering Canada along the Sarnia-Windsor border zone.

The unwelcome immigrants are brush wolves whose numbers have multiplied during the last five or six years.

Harkness did not give any reason for the migration.

GOVERNMENT WILLING TO SET CEILING ON SIZE OF CANADA'S ARMED FORCES

OTTAWA—Defence Minister Claxton agreed in the commons to remove from the government's militia bill a provision which would deprive parliament of its historic right to control the size of the nation's armed forces.

Concluding a day-long debate on defence policies, Mr. Claxton said that if parliament objected to the provision the government would be willing to set a ceiling on the size of the forces instead of leaving it to the governor-in-council.

Of defence co-operation with the United States, re-emphasized in a joint defence declaration, he said this was only "common sense" considering the two countries were neighbors.

Mr. Claxton spoke after repeated requests from opposition speakers, mainly from the Progressive Conservative ranks, for the removal of the clause dealing with the size of the defence forces.

Dealing with Arctic defence, he said the government planned to invite the military attacks of other nations, in addition to the United States, to visit the armed services' testing station at Churchill, Man., provided Canada was given reciprocal treatment.

But he said this privilege would be difficult to continue if treatment was not given "on a more reciprocal basis."

Earlier, M. J. Coldwell, C.F.E. leader, expressed the hope that Canada's plans to continue defence co-operation with the United States would not mean that "we are going to be controlled" by the "ambitions and policies" of that country.

Li-Col. Cecil Merritt, V.C. (P.C.-Vancouver-Burrard) called for a "clear" statement of defence policy and urged that obligations to the United Nations not overshadow the primary duty of the armed forces—defence of the Canadian soil.

From Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (P.C.-Nanaimo) came a warning that the Progressive Conservative party would not support the measure, made up largely of technical amendments to the militia act, unless the minister gave the assurance that parliament would retain its right to determine the size of the armed forces.

This warning later was repeated by John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader.

Mr. Claxton replied that it had been necessary to make a change in the size of the forces and the government had found it difficult to set a figure which would not be too high or too low.

"It occurred to us also," he said, "that it might be necessary if the international situation deteriorated and there was a real expectation of war to increase the forces quite sharply."

Mr. Claxton said another suggestion was that control of the armed forces already was provided in a section which said that parliament would meet within 15 days if the forces were put on active service.

Turning to criticism of the government's decision to recruit the armed forces to only 75 per cent. of previously-announced totals, he said if the three services were recruited up to the ceilings established last year it would be "difficult to make any change that would be designed to meet a changing situation." The country would be on safer grounds to recruit to within 75 per cent. of the ceiling and "see at the end of the year how we stand then."

The village of Lawford, England, elected women to all offices in 1931, but voted them out in favor of men in 1932.

Plan Better Rural Housing For Prairies

SASKATOON.—A recommendation that a co-ordinating committee be appointed to investigate all matters allied with improvement in rural housing, community centres and similar buildings was passed at a meeting attended by rural housing representatives from the prairie provinces. It was sponsored by the Central Mortgage and Housing corporation.

The suggested committee would contain representatives of the governments of the three provinces, their universities, the federal department of Agriculture, National Research Council, and Central Mortgage and Housing corporation. The latter will pass on the recommendation to the provincial ministers concerned.

It was suggested that duties of the committee would be to investigate architectural designs for improvement in farm homes, use of water and sewage disposal systems, improved heating systems, and generally consider the design and structure of buildings that could be used as community centres or for recreation purposes. The committee would also determine where special research would be conducted leading to the objective outlined, taking into account the people best qualified to do the work and facilities available for it.

The two representatives of Central Mortgage and Housing corporation at the meeting were T. B. Pickersgill, supervisor of the farm loans division, and S. A. Gitterman, Ottawa. Also present were six representatives of the Manitoba Rural Housing committee, Alberta government and University of Saskatchewan, the experimental station at Swift Current, Sask., and E. E. Eisenhufer, deputy minister of Reconstruction and Rehabilitation in Saskatchewan.

LEGISLATION FOR DEBT REFUNDING

OTTAWA. Legislation ratifying plans for refunding part of the treasury bills of indebtedness of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia will be submitted to parliament this session, it was disclosed in a return tabled for P. E. Gagnon (Ind.-Chicoutimi).

The treasury bills represent loans made to the provinces for relief and other purposes during the great depression.

GRASS FROM WEST FOR ONTARIO CATTLE

The wild grass that used to fatten the buffalo herds is going to be sown in Ontario. Seed of the wild grass has been obtained and it will be grown experimentally on a 100-acre tract to be distributed later this year to Ontario farmers.

NET INCOME OF CANADA IS LOWER

OTTAWA. Canada's net national income declined to $9,212,000,000 in 1946 from $9,587,000,000 the previous year despite increases of $247,000,000 in civilian salaries and wages. The bureau of statistics reported.

Salaries, wages and supplementary labor income rose to $5,112,000,000, the highest since the survey was started in 1938, compared with $4,865,000,000 in 1945. Investment income totalled $1,778,000,000 against $1,916,000,000, and net income of individual enterprise, agriculture and other, was $2,009,000,000 in 1946 against $1,671,000,000 the previous year.

The report said the moderate decline in money totals actually was larger in real terms because of a 4.8 per cent. increase in the index of wholesale prices and 3.4 per cent. in the cost-of-living index.

PLANTS ARE USING ATOMIC POWER

PORTLAND, Ore.—Atomic power has been harnessed on an industrial scale for the first time in history at the Hanford Engineer Works at General Electric, C. P. Cabell, the plant's chemical engineer, said.

"The problem of atomic heat control actually was solved before the first atom bombs were assembled," Cabell said, "and three industrial atomic energy plants are now functioning at Hanford."

The Hanford works are located at Richland, Wash.

Cabell said there was no danger that atomic energy would make obsolete existing water power or fuel-generated power facilities.

"It will be some years at best before atomic power will be available for application to industry," he said.

As an example of the power potency of uranium, Cabell said one cubic inch could supply enough energy to create 130,000 kilowatt days of electrical energy, or enough to supply a city of 400,000 population, with power for 24 hours.

NEW AMENDMENTS TO LABOR CODE

OTTAWA.—Provincial jurisdiction over "war industries" will be restored March 31 under an order-in-council tabled in the commons by Labor Minister Mitchell.

The order, passed Jan. 30, also will have the effect of consolidating into P.C. 1003—the federal labor relations bill all machinery for the investigation and conciliation of industrial disputes.

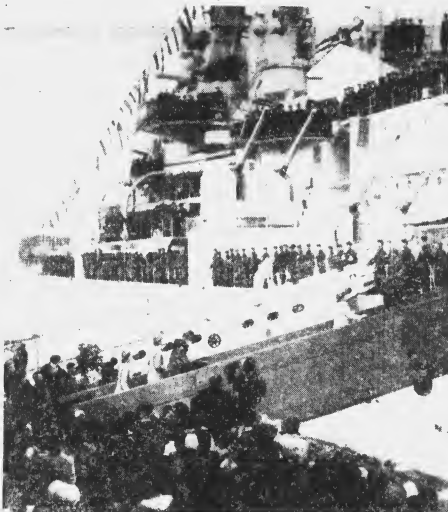

Apart from the section returning powers to the provinces, the order comes into effect Feb. 15.

The new amendments are regarded as of a transitional nature, to bridge the gap between now and the time, later in this session, when the government brings in its proposed new labor code.

Government Immigration Plans Postponed By Housing Problem

—Chinese Act Under Fire

OTTAWA.—The government plans to delay any announcement on a general immigration policy until an end of the housing shortage in Canada is in sight, it was learned authoritatively.

A source in close touch with government affairs told The Canadian Press that the cabinet has definitely decided that there will be no open door policy on immigration until the housing problem is solved.

The decision, he said, was communicated to a caucus of Liberal party members when a provision repealing the Chinese Exclusion act came under heavy fire.

The provision was included in a bill which, among other things, continued wartime regulations under which dependents of members of the armed forces were allowed to come into the country without being subjected to the Immigration act.

When the bill came up for second reading in the commons opposition members and Liberal members from British Columbia objected to the way in which the government was planning to repeal the exclusion of Chinese.

The British Columbia members, who are probably more aware of the Asiatic problem than members from any other part of Canada, for the most part, were worried that the change would meet a great influx of Chinese and their families.

Resources Minister Glen attempted to explain the act would mean simply that Chinese who had become Canadian citizens would be able to bring their wives and families to Canada. His explanation was misinterpreted and was taken to mean that all Chinese in Canada would be able to bring their wives and families here.

The source said that Mr. Glen was under particularly heavy fire at the Liberal caucus and that finally External Affairs Minister St. Laurent stepped into the discussion to explain the exact extent of the bill.

He was said to have explained that possibly not more than 2,000 Chinese in Canada would qualify to bring their wives and families here. And as to future immigration, Chinese would fall under the classification of Asians in the Immigration act.

The source said that Mr. St. Laurent made it clear that he supported removal of discrimination from Canadian laws but that things had to come in order. The housing problem, for instance, had to be solved first.

CANADA TO CONTINUE ITS DEFENCE COLLABORATION WITH THE UNITED STATES

OTTAWA.—Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced in the commons a limited peacetime continuation of defence collaboration with the United States and "emphatically" denied that Canada's southern neighbor had asked for military bases in the Canadian north.

Simultaneous statements in Ottawa and Washington said the two countries had made an informal working arrangement to continue wartime co-operation through exchange of personnel and observers, reciprocal "availability" of facilities, gradual application of common design and standards in arms, equipment, training and organization.

Both in the statement and in elaborating comments, Mr. King maintained that the move would "support and strengthen the United Nations" and held that it was a "contribution to the stability of the world." It recalled traditional procedures within the British Commonwealth and in no way interfered with or replaced them.

Mr. King's statement recalled 1935 assurances by both himself and the late President Roosevelt that the defence of one country meant defence of the other and indicated that these statements were being molded into tangible, post-war forms.

It was, he said, as a result of deliberations of the seven-year-old joint permanent defence board—its Canadian head is Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton—that the two countries had decided to collaborate "in the interests of efficiency and economy" and "to the extent authorized by law," on the basis of three principles:

1. Interchange of selected individuals so as to increase the familiarity of each country's defence establishment with that of the other country.
2. General co-operation and exchange of observers in connection with exercises and with the development and tests of material of common interest.
3. Encouragement of common designs and standards in arms, equipment, organization, methods of training and new developments. As certain United Kingdom standards have been in use in Canada, no radical change is contemplated or practicable and the application of this principle will be gradual.
4. Mutual and reciprocal availability of military, naval and air facilities in each country; this principle to be applied as may be agreed in specific instances. Reciprocally each country will continue to provide, with a minimum of formality, for the transit through its territory and its territorial waters of military aircraft and public vessels of the other country.
5. As an underlying principle all co-operative arrangements will be without impairment of the control of other country over all activities in its territory.

ASTRONOMERS WILL STUDY SUN SPOTS

NEW YORK.—Astronomers are packing their bags these days in preparation for a trip to Brazil and a new study of sun spots.

It will be one of their best opportunities in recent years and the best for some years to come.

This is because the sun will be totally eclipsed on May 29 for a period of three minutes and 51 seconds. That will be the longest such period until 1955, and astronomers mean to make the best of it.

The study of sun spots will be the big order. In recent months, those enormous clouds of gas which sometimes cover great portions of the sun's surface have reached their peak activity.

Every so often the phenomena affects radio and telegraphic communication. For some reason, the magnetic communication signals go haywire. Some scientists even blame certain weather conditions, such as hurricanes and other storms, on these sun spots. Others go so far as to predict that some day man on earth will be able to make long range weather forecasts by learning new knowledge of sun spots.

WEDDINGS

DeLUCA-BIEGUN

A wedding of much interest to Coleman's younger set took place on Saturday afternoon, Feb. 15, at 3:30 o'clock in Holy Ghost church when Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Biegun, of Coleman, became the bride of Joseph L. DeLuca, second son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Bomben, of Coleman. Rev. Father Leo Sullivan conducted the service.

The bride looked very charming in a floor length net dress and floor length veil and carrying a bouquet of sweetheart roses. She was given in marriage by her father.

There were three bridesmaids and three attendants, they being Annie Kuchton and Ralph Tortorelli Jr, Julia Kupscik and Anthony DeLuca and Jennie Husich and Armando DeLuca. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of pink carnations. The matron of honor was Jennie Husich, sister of the bride.

Following the ceremony, the wedding group had pictures taken at Uno's Photo Service studio.

The wedding couple then motored to the home of the bride's parents where covers were laid for 65 relatives and close friends of the families. The bride's table was centred by a three tiered wedding cake which had been made by the groom's mother.

The young couple were aided by their respective mothers in receiving the guests. The bride's mother chose a black dress with a corsage of pink carnations and the groom's mother wore a sand two-piece suit and hat to match and had a corsage of pink carnations.

Following an evening of feasting and dancing the young couple left on a honeymoon to be spent at Lethbridge and Calgary. Upon their return they will take up temporary residence with the groom's parents until the premises at the rear of the Fashion Shop on main street are vacated.

The groom only this month purchased the business of the Fashion Shop in the Italian block which he will operate along with the aid of his bride.

Out of town visitors included Mr. Joe DeLuca, the groom's grandfather, from Michel; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tortorelli, Natal; Mr. and Mrs. Louis DeLuca, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Roemer and Mrs. Sam Armstrong, all of Michel; Mr. and Mrs. L. Husich, Blainmore, and Mr. and Mrs. P. Husich, Chapel Rock and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Salamon and Mary, of Red Deer.
